The Moral Imperative of Quality Education

Nov 27, 2017 | PETER MUTHARIKA

Poor countries like Malawi are doing what they can to improve educational quality and access. But there is only so much that a country with modest means can achieve. Why global leaders, when they meet in Senegal early next year, must recommit to investing in the education of all children.

BLANTYRE, MALAWI – In September, I was among a group of world leaders who gathered in New York City to discuss ways to improve access to quality education. Around the world, hundreds of millions of children are either not receiving basic schooling, or are attending school but not learning. We gathered to devise a way forward.

Julia Gillard: World keen to learn from China's education experience

By Song Jingyi | chinadaily.com.cn | Updated: 2017-12-01 17:32

Il est urgent d'apprendre des leçons des pays qui investissent massivement dans l'éducation.

Pour Alice Albright, directrice du Partenariat mondial pour l'éducation, la création d'un fonds mondial s'inspirant de ceux existant pour lutter contre le terrorisme est nécessaire.

Globale Bildungskrise 2030

Die Welt wird dumm gehalten

Schon 2030 könnte mehr als der Hälfte der jüngsten Weltbevölkerung der Zugang zu Bildung verwehrt sein. Eine globale Gefahr, die eine Initiative verhindern will. Doch der Westen zahlt nur lächerliche Summen.
• Global media reach of over 10 million on International Children’s Day alone
• Potential reach of 33 million for GPE in the space of one week
