GIRLS EDUCATION

Unlocking the potential
CLIMATE CHANGE

Investing in girls builds on Paris accord and combats climate change

Kenya: Women with secondary education are three times more likely to immunise children against DTP than mothers having less than primary or no education
(Onsomu et al, 2015)

“To end the AIDS epidemic we need women and girls to be empowered through education.

“In Botswana, every additional year of secondary school reduces the risk of HIV infection by 11.6% among girls.”
MIGRATION

Lack of education key driver of families fleeing Syria in 2015

L’EX PREMIER AUSTRALIANO
“Solo con più istruzione ci salveremo dai disastri”
Julia Gillard: riduce i conflitti e migliora l’ambiente

Leader
Julia Gillard, 55 anni è stata primo ministro dell’Australia dal 2010 al 2013

L’ex premier australiano Julia Gillard ha sostenuto che l’istruzione è il mezzo per prevenire conflitti e disastri.

870 milioni
L’obiettivo è migliorare la qualità e quantità delle scuole per 870 milioni di giovani e ragazzi.

1,7 milioni
Il numero di insegnanti che verranno formati e riformati nei Paesi più poveri è di 1,7 milioni.

Checkiamo gli Stati ricchi tre miliardi per garantire a 25 milioni di giovani di andare a scuola e completare l’istruzione superiore.

L’educazione favorirebbe la crescita economica e sarebbe anche un strumento contro il terrorismo e le guerre civili nel mondo.

Julia Gillard, Presidente della Global Partnership for Education
